Scouts seizing opportunities for new success

Replacement parts are meshing perfectly for surprisingly undefeated Conrad Weiser

Junior Angel Cruz has become one of the new playmakers for Conrad Weiser, leading Berks County in scoring with 62 points in three games.

LUKE CASAMASSA makes no bones about being surprised by Conrad Weiser's 3-0 start.

"I didn't see it coming," the Scouts' senior linebacker admitted.

"To be honest with you," said Pottsville coach Kevin Keating, "I don't think anybody did."

You could make an argument that no team in the history of the Inter-County League has ever graduated three players of the caliber the Scouts did and rebounded to start a season with three straight wins.

Of course, very few teams in I-C history ever put a trio of players such as DJ Robinson, Matt Weiser and Mike Oliveto on the field at the same time. They combined for more than 4,000 yards from scrimmage and scored 56 of Weiser's 66 touchdowns during a 9-4 run last season that ended in the district semifinals.

Replacing them was impossible, but the Scouts have found a way to win, cashing in with opportunistic play that has helped break open each of their games. They have built leads of 21-7, 37-7 and 22-0 in wins over Conestoga Valley, Cedar Cliff and Donegal.

They'll find out just how good they are, and if they're a legitimate contender in Section 1 of the Berks Football League, when Pottsville visits Robesonia tonight.

To date, everything's been a bonus for the Scouts.

"I won't say I'm surprised to be 3-0," said head coach Alan Moyer, "I'm ecstatic. I really am. We weren't really sure what we had. We found out we have some playmakers. We aren't where we want to be yet, but we're certainly happy at 3-0."

One of those playmakers has been Angel Cruz, a solid starting linebacker as a sophomore last season. He rarely got touches on offense because, well, the Scouts were allowed to use only one ball on each play, and why would you want to take it out of the hands of guys like Robinson, Oliveto or Weiser?

Opponents are now finding the only way to get it away from the 5-8, 170-pound Cruz is to wait until he places it down in the end zone after a touchdown.

He has a Berks-leading 62 points, with 10 touchdowns — one off an interception return, one off a fumble return, two on receptions and six on runs from scrimmage.

He leads the team in rushing, with 241 yards; in receiving, with seven catches; and in tackles, with 20.

"I knew on defense he'd be a star player," Casamassa said, "but I didn't think he'd be on both sides of the ball. I didn't know he'd give us this much on offense. You hand him the ball and he's running kids over and getting to the end zone."

"I'm just trying to do what I can for my team," Cruz said modestly, "trying to get us a win."

And scoring 10 touchdowns in three games?

Boone, Weiser battle for survival in Section 1 title hunt

The Blazers and Scouts are trying to regroup following their first losses of the season.

By Mike Drago
Reading Eagle

There's little margin for error when hunting for a championship in the jungle that is Section 1 of the Berks Football League.

The Daniel Boone Blazers and Conrad Weiser Scouts realize as much. Each took a shiny 7-0 mark into its game last week, and each was defeated.

Now they're both scrambling, trying to survive, trying to keep their title hopes alive, a task doubly difficult because they'll be doing it tonight on the same field.

Someone will go home tonight with a two-game losing streak and with their hopes for a section title vanished.

"It's just business as usual," allowed Blazers coach Dave Bodolus, who has been down this treacherous road before.

A year ago Boone won its first seven games, lost to Gov. Mifflin, then rebounded to save its season by beating the Scouts in overtime. The Blazers went on to share the Section 1 title with Mifflin and Pottsville.

Both the Blazers (4-1, 7-1) and the Scouts (4-1, 7-1) remain in position to either share the section title or win it outright.

The Blazers need someone to beat Mifflin, either Exeter tonight or Weiser next week. The Scouts control their own destiny; if they win out they'll claim at least a part of the title.

Weiser coach Alan Moyer won't allow himself to look at the big picture. It's all about survival tonight, and he feels as though the Scouts are the prey against a hungry Boone team that's ranked No. 1 in the league in both total offense and total defense and features some of the league's most dangerous weapons.

"For us, it's just another Friday night against a tough opponent," Moyer said. "We're just trying to regroup and get them focused. We've got to get back to the basics, blocking and tackling, which we didn't do (last) Friday (in a 21-0 loss to Exeter)."

Just being in position to compete for a title with two weeks to go is newsworthy for the Scouts. They've already won more games than anyone imagined. They're playing with house money at this point.

Not so for the Blazers who returned a boatload of veterans and were expected to win the Section 1 title and possibly match or improve upon their school-record 11-win season of a year ago.

Playing against a Mifflin team that was without its starting quarterback the Blazers may have let that opportunity slip away in last week's 14-7 loss.

The Blazers played well enough on defense but couldn't shake anything loose on offense, where they were limited to a season-low 172 total yards — less than half their normal output.

Quarterback Tommy Bodolus, who has run and passed for 1,000 yards, was effectively hemmed in and prevented from making big plays. So was tailback Darrell Scott, the league's top receiver.

"You've just got to find a way to make a couple plays," Dave Bodolus said. "We're not that big, so we're not gonna pound people."

"We understand as we get to the better teams we have to play sounder defensively and score when we've got the opportunity. You're not gonna light up the scoreboard every week."

The Scouts had trouble moving the ball themselves. They were held to a season-low 148 yards against Exeter, and quarterback Nick Schoener — who entered the game as the top-rated passer in the league — was knocked out of the game in the second quarter. His status for tonight is uncertain.

"From last week on, it's gonna be a tough week every week," Dave Bodolus said. "You're gonna have to win those tough games. I like our chances, but it's gonna be a tough road."
